Off The Tools

Being successful in today's business environment involves more than just being good at your chosen trade. You need a working knowledge of a whole range of services you won't learn on the job. Off the Tools are a dedicated team of business professionals and trade experts who have come together to provide business services for you.

Off the Tools will discuss how they can provide on demand assistance to your business in the following areas:

- Tendering Services
- Estimating Services
- Company Profiles
- Marketing Services
- Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) Products and Services

Building Industry Business Coaching Specialist Kurt Hegetschweiler will share real life building specific business strategies used by other successful builders and building contractors in Sydney to boost your cash-flow and profits. Kurt is quickly becoming recognised as the Building Industry "Millionaire Maker", helping builders and building contractors in Australia run more profitable businesses. Over the past 7 years Kurt has personally coached and mentored hundreds of small to medium sized builders and building contractors. Kurt prides himself in delivering less information and more results using real life, hands on, no fluff business strategies that work. Kurt is also the co-author of "would you like profits with that", the first business book published in Australia exclusively for the trades industry.
